

You started your business to pursue a passion, a passion to share your expertise with your community. Or perhaps it was the dream of becoming your own boss.

[A man reads papers on a desk; a woman wearing a lanyard stands in the spotlight before a projector; a woman wears an apron and wipes a kitchen counter; a man stands at the front of a room of colleagues, writing on a whiteboard; a woman annotates a document at an outdoor cafe table.]

Whatever the reason likely discovered that owning a business also required you to become an expert in bookkeeping. Just managing your incoming and outgoing payments can occupy a lot of your time, but the payments themselves are really just the tip of the iceberg.

[On a graphic of an iceberg, the top is labeled "Payments," while the submerged bottom lists: Write and mail checks, track invoices, deposit checks, and reconcile accounting software.]

This is where Commerce Bank can help. Our unique Cash Flow Complete solution automates your entire payables and receivables processes, from paying your bills and half the time, to getting paid two to three times faster.

[Data based on May 2021 survey of bill.com users. A man types on a laptop; a woman writes in a pad and studies her laptop screen; another types surrounded by coffee, notepad, phone, glasses, and a calculator.]

Perhaps best of all, Cash Flow Complete syncs with most accounting systems, eliminating a lot of extra work. Not to mention, headaches and errors.

Reduce the amount of time you spend on Bills and invoicing, and get back to the reason you started your company in the first place.
